PART II – WRITTEN STATEMENT OF REASONS FOR DETENTION

On April 29, 2025, the court convened a hearing on the United States' motion for pretrial detention of Adam Jon Dubord pending trial. During that hearing, the United States adopted the Pretrial Services Officer's recommendation that Dubord be released to a residential reentry center when funding for that placement becomes available. Dubord requested release to return to his own residence. The Pretrial Services Report shows Dubord has complied with court-ordered conditions when previously released, but this is a case in which pretrial detention is presumed because of the nature of the charge against Dubord, and the United States proffered evidence of his significant involvement in a conspiracy to distribute controlled substances. Dubord's record of compliance with previously ordered release conditions and his significant ties to the community are sufficient to rebut the presumption of detention, but when the proffered evidence is considered, the court finds detention pending availability of an RRC placement is nonetheless warranted. As discussed during the April 29 hearing, the court would consider release to an appropriate residential substance abuse treatment program as an alternative to an RRC placement.
